

Dear Friends and Family:

I hope that summer is off to a lovely start for you. April and May were super busy for me and I am taking a much needed breather. I did some speaking about Hair Stories and book signings and attended an amazing 25th reunion at my alma mater along with the closing reception of my solo show at Brown Medical School. Thank you to those that were able to come to these events. It meant the world to me to see you there.

One of my goals with Hair Stories was to try to have it reach people, hope that it would resonate and create (more) dialogue about the importance of hair in our lives. So, seeing it in the Los Angeles Central Public Library was a moment of great pride.

Some of my May highlights included being on NPR/WNYC with Brian Lehrer and being featured on Daily Beast. Click on the links below.

Hair Stories (the show) is now traveling home to LA and I will be looking for other venues. The book has done well and is out of stock with the North American distributor (DAP/Artbook) but if you would like to have a signed copy, please feel free to order one here https://www.rohinahoffman.com. In Europe, it is available on Damiani's website.

Naomi, from Hair Stories, will be part of juried photography show "Aging as Art" sponsored by the Council of Aging Southern California and be shown at the Bowers Museum in Santa Ana (July) and Newport Beach Central Library (August) 2019.

New Work

Some of my proudest collaborations is work that I make with my husband of nearly 23 years. Our daily work together of keeping our life moving, balanced, and of course raising our children - our life's work. So to work together creatively on something we entered in Your Mother Tongue: A Word and Image Dialogue. He wrote a poem to my image. It will be on display at the Lafayette City Center Passageway, a satellite space of the Griffin Museum, Boston. Many thanks to Paula Tognarelli for this opportunity. If you are in Boston, the show opens this week. June 29- September 14, 2019

I am interested in interviewing subjects for my Generation 1.75 project. If you immigrated from another country before the age of 6, please email me. I want to talk to YOU!

FINE ART

PORTRAIT SESSIONS

Please email me if you would like a consultation for an in home or on location fine art photo session. Summer is the best time to schedule. I am also booking high school seniors and doing a special project on women: "fabulous over forty".

I would be honored if you wanted to share this newsletter with any friends or colleagues. Thank you for your friendship and support and I hope to see you soon.

All my best,
Rohina Hoffman
